

Mitratech to Introduce GettingContractsDone With Webinar

Mitratech will present its software solution called “GettingContractsDone” (GCD) in a webinar Feb. 10 at 1 p.m. CST. The company says GCD was designed specifically for busy departments of all sizes seeking to manage contract creation, processing and execution with a powerful, yet easy-to-use and implement, contract management solution.

Organizations that typically select GCD as their contract management solution are:

- Small groups that need a seamless way to receive and work on contracts from any number of business stakeholders
- Legal teams that only need a system for their transactional (non-litigation) matters
- Organizations that require a single system of record to store historical contracts and generate reminders around milestones and renewal dates
- Contract teams that want a way to easily collaborate using a hosted solution

Register for the webinar.