

More than Four Decades of Commercial Trial Work

Award-Winning Trial Practice

Jim Malone has successfully tried and managed cases in virtually every business sector and practice area. He represents both plaintiffs and defendants in complex commercial matters. He has been widely recognized for his securities litigation work defending individual, derivative and class-action claims against businesses and their individual directors, and has frequently been asked to respond to SEC actions and inquiries. His deep knowledge and experience make him the right choice for your new matter, or to take up the reins in the ongoing case that requires a skilled trial lawyer. Jim is also available to mediate or arbitrate selected matters.

Click here to learn more about his decades of trial experience.