M&A and Transaction Risk Oversight Examined

M&A deal volume in the U.S. reached a record high in 2015, reports the National Association of Corporate Directors. The NACD is offering a complimentary copy of the summary from a recent meeting of the NACD Advisory Council on Risk Oversight, which focused on the board's oversight of M&A transactions including understanding the board's role during a transaction, identifying questions to consider when evaluating potential deals, and establishing a process for determining transaction success.

Topics covered include:

- Engaging management about possible deals
- Determining if a proposed deal advances company strategy
- Identifying culture and talent risks
- Measuring the success of a transaction
- Establishing effective oversight processes

Download the summary.