

Nat Phillips Signs New Four-Year Liverpool Contract

“Nat Phillips is staying at Liverpool after agreeing a new four-year contract. The popular centre-back had been expected to leave Anfield on deadline day in search of regular first-team football. However, in the absence of a suitable offer, Liverpool have now decided to keep him,” reports James Pearce and Caoimhe O’Neill in The Athletic.

“Upon signing his new deal, Phillips said, Obviously after last year, it’s really nice to get that reward from the club. I’m happy to be sticking around and being available if the club need to call on me again. I’m excited for the next chapter and just to see what that brings. Phillips, whose previous deal ran until 2023, played an integral part.”
