Complimentary Ethics & Compliance Virtual Conference

Navex Global will present the sixth annual Ethics & Compliance Virtual Conference on Nov. 15 – a free, one-day, online event.

The conference will be Tuesday, Nov. 15, from 8:30 a.m. until 2:30 p.m. Pacific time.

A goal of the event is to discuss how to deliver quantifiable value to an organization, while meeting constantly changing legal and regulatory requirements.

The agenda consists of 11 educational sessions focused on harnessing the business value of an ethical culture, including three sessions specifically on the driving forces behind regulatory change and compliance challenges.

Howard Putnam, former CEO of Southwest Airlines, will headline the event, discussing how the culture of Southwest Airlines benefit employees, reputation and profits—and the critical role compliance professionals played.
