Neil V. Carbone Joins Farrell Fritz's Trusts & Estates and Estate Litigation Departments as Partner

Farrell Fritz is pleased to welcome Neil V. Carbone as a partner in the trusts & estates and estate litigation departments.

"Adding a partner of Neil's caliber to our trust & estates and estate litigation departments is indicative of our dedication to growth and client service," said Robert Creighton, Managing Partner at Farrell Fritz. "Neil comes with decades of experience helping clients navigate challenging matters. We are thrilled to have him return to the firm where he was a legal intern as he launched a distinguished career."

"Farrell Fritz was where I first developed my interest in the trusts and estates practice, in which we establish tax-efficient plans for clients and then help carry them out while sometimes dealing with high levels of contention or even litigation," said Carbone. "After honing my skills at a large national firm, coming back to Farrell Fritz as a partner is like coming home. While the family here has gotten bigger, the culture of the firm, the people, and the collaboration among the various departments of the firm remain unchanged and provide exactly the right mix for my practice. The firm's blend of talent and capabilities will allow me to provide the best resources for my clients now and in the future."

Carbone is a Great Neck, NY, resident. Prior to joining Farrell Fritz, he was a partner at Katten Muchin Rosenman LLP. Neil earned his J.D. from St. John's University School of Law, cum laude, and his B.A. from St. John's University. He is admitted in New York, the U.S. District Court for the Northern District of New York, and the U.S. Tax Court.
