

Nicolaides Fink Thorpe Michaelides Sullivan LLP Adds To Its Dallas Team and Is On The Move

Nicolaides Fink Thorpe Michaelides Sullivan LLP is pleased to announce that Adrienne H. Nelson has joined the firm's Dallas office as a partner.

Nelson brings to the firm years of experience representing insurance companies in a wide variety of coverage-related matters, with a particular focus on first-party and general liability matters arising from construction defect, premises liability, and commercial transportation claims. Nelson is licensed in Texas and Florida and regularly advises insurers on coverage issues under commercial and personal lines policies. Nelson monitors changes to legislation, regulations, and case law pertaining to claims handling and provides training and counsel to clients accordingly.

In addition, effective June 1, 2021, Nicolaides Fink Thorpe Michaelides Sullivan LLP has moved its Dallas office to Harwood International's Saint Ann Court, located at 2501 North Harwood Street, Suite 1210. Saint Ann Court is situated in the Harwood District near Uptown Dallas.

The firm opened its Dallas office in December 2020 with the addition of partner Ellen Van Meir, partner Mariah Quiroz, and associate Conor J. McCall. Since then, the firm has added associate Nicholas K. Low and now partner Nelson.
