

Penn National Gaming Names Everi's Harper Ko as new General Counsel

New York-listed Penn National Gaming has confirmed that long-standing general counsel Carl Sottosanti will retire at the end of this year, posted Penn National in their Press Releases.

Sottosanti will retire as executive vice president, general counsel and secretary on 31 December after 17 years' service at Penn National.

He will be replaced by experienced legal executive Harper Ko, who will join Penn National from Everi at the beginning of next year, subject to customary regulatory approvals.

Read the article.