Announcing Case in Point 2018 Webinar Series Schedule – Beginning Feb. 13

Andrews Kurth Kenyon LLP will kick off its 2018 Case in Point Webinar Series on Feb. 13 with "The Dog Ate My Evidence – Tips for Implementing Litigation Holds and Avoiding Sanctions."

The first webinar will be on Tuesday, Feb. 13, at 10 a.m. Central time. Presenters will be Kelly Sandill and Ashley Lewis.

Destruction of evidence can lead to the imposition of substantial sanctions against a company and its non-compliant employees, the firm says on its website. An effective litigation hold can be a first line of defense against claims of spoliation or obstruction. Unfortunately, implementing a litigation hold is not always a simple process and sometimes does not go as planned.

This CLE program provides an overview of developments in the law surrounding destruction of evidence, discusses the human and technological challenges of litigation holds, provides suggestions for avoiding common pitfalls, and discusses how companies can best handle situations in which evidence has gone missing.

Register for the Feb. 13 webinar

See upcoming events in the series