2019 Law Department Benchmarking Survey

Consilio is conducting its 2019 Law Department Benchmarking Survey covering such topics as legal spending, department organization, staff workload, outside counsel and vendor management, leadership priorities, client service delivery and technology.

The company says the project's aim is to measure and benchmark to identify best practices. Participants' answers will help other corporate law departments understand current trends and practices.

Answers to survey questions are confidential. And participants will receive at no cost, access to the aggregated results. Deadline for participation is July 31, 2019.

Consilio is offering any company that participates in the survey a chance to win a complimentary assessment of their external legal spend.

Participate in the survey.
