E-Discovery Software: A How-To Guide for In-House Legal Departments

Exterro has published a comprehensive guide to the e-discovery software purchasing process, which can be downloaded from the company's website at no charge.

In the guide, three in-house e-discovery experts share their experiences leading e-discovery procurement and implementation projects. Using a series of critical questions that a software purchaser must ask and answer, they explore the steps that should be taken when facing a similar challenge.

The guide includes:

- 6 simplified steps for starting your e-discovery software buying process
- Key insight from 3 in-house legal professionals who have already gone through and refined their buying process
- A product agnostic, purely educational guide for successfully navigating the e-discovery software buying process
