Download: Improve Compliance Training to Reduce Risk

NAVEX Global has published the 2018 Ethics & Compliance Training Benchmark Report to show how companies are using their training program to change employee behavior, positively impact corporate culture and decrease legal exposure.

The report, which can be downloaded at no charge, includes guidance on how to use the most important compliance training benchmarks when measuring program effectiveness.

“Your employees are your biggest asset—and your biggest risk. Poor decisions made by employees or lack of awareness around the law can expose your organization to workplace harassment fines, wage & hour violations, and international bribery and corruption charges—to name just a few,” NAVEX says on its website.
