NDAworks Introduces Automation of NDAs

- SecureDocs has introduced NDAworks, which is designed to help companies manage non-disclosure agreements.

The company says on its website that NDAWorks helps manage the signing, tracking and storing of a company's NDAs from a central, secure location.

By utilizing agreement templates, built-in electronic signature, and custom document tagging, a legal team can save time and remain in control of every single NDA issued by the organization, the developer says.

The company is offering a free 14-day trial.
