Cybersecurity for Banks: The Legal and Regulatory Framework

Practical Law will present a complimentary webinar Tuesday, July 26, 1-2:30 p.m. EDT, on evolving cybersecurity issues for banks.

In a release, the company said cybersecurity poses important and time-sensitive challenges to banks and will continue to do so into the foreseeable future. In addition to regulatory and compliance risks, cybersecurity also poses litigation and reputational risks. Bank counsel need to be at the forefront of cybersecurity to ensure that their bank's directors, management, and employees are aware of the challenges and the measures that need to be taken.

Speakers will be Heath Tarbert and William White of Allen & Overy and Jeremy Estabrooks of Practical Law.

Topics will include:

- What cybersecurity entails and the types of cyber threats facing banks.
- Federal laws and regulations addressing cybersecurity.
- Federal regulatory guidance and resources.
- State laws and regulations addressing cybersecurity.
- What cybersecurity issues bank counsel should currently be thinking about.

A brief Q&A session will follow.

Register for the webinar.