

Process Ukrainian Visas as if they are PPE Contracts

“There is a marked contrast between the lack of due diligence over the awarding of PPE contracts in 2020 and the over caution and delays when issuing visas to Ukrainian refugees (UK ministers considering climbdown on Ukraine visa restrictions, 9 March). Time for the prime minister to put his money,” reports The Guardian in their blog.

“Heather Stewart explores ways the chancellor might ease the cost of living crisis (What can Rishi Sunak do to relieve the cost of living crisis?, 10 March). One thing that seems to be flying under the radar is that Rishi Sunak has frozen personal tax allowances until 2026, so has already nailed his colours to the mast for another four years.”
