

Regional Market Outlook for the WECC and ERCOT

✖ DNV GL will present a webinar designed to provide an independent market outlook and analysis of the WECC and ERCOT power markets.

The webinar will be Thursday, Sept. 11, beginning at 2 p.m. Eastern time.

The presenter will share its 20-year outlook for power prices, new resources and demand.

Its wholesale market perspective is unique and grounded in deep energy advisory expertise, the company says on its website.

The webinar will provide information about emerging trends, long term opportunities and risks facing market participants.

This regional market outlook provides an independent objective perspective on market and regulatory drivers that will shape the industry.

Register for the webinar.

DNV GL provides classification and technical assurance along with software and independent expert advisory services to the maritime, oil & gas and energy industries. It also provides certification services to customers across a wide range of industries. DNV GL, whose origins go back to 1864, operates globally in more than 100 countries with its 16,000 professionals dedicated to helping their customers make the world safer, smarter and greener.