

Romeo Power Announces Appointment of Matthew Sant as General Counsel

“Romeo Power, Inc. an energy technology leader delivering advanced electrification solutions for complex commercial vehicle applications, today announced the appointment of Matthew Sant to the role of General Counsel. Mr. Sant is a seasoned in house legal executive and lawyer who brings to Romeo Power extensive experience at the intersections of technology,” reports Yahoo Finance in their blog.

“Weil Gotshal is one of those firms. As noted in a memo sent to all employees in May, the firm’s New York, Boston, D.C. Miami, Dallas, and Houston offices opened at 100 percent capacity in June with the Silicon Valley office opening at 100 percent capacity on June 15th, the firm will be fully back to business on September 7.”

Read the article.