

Service Titan Hires Former Latham Lawyer Huang as General Counsel

“Service Titan Inc., a cloud-based software company that assists electricians and other home services businesses, has hired former Latham & Watkins and technology company lawyer Olive Huang as general counsel. Huang, who spent more than five years as a Latham associate, most recently was general,” reports Brian Baxter in Bloomberg Law.

“The trades are the ultimate customer service industry, Huang said in a Tuesday statement, adding that her new company aids businesses large and small. She joins the Glendale, California software services provider that to date has raised roughly $1.1 billion in capital. The company completed a $200 million Series G fundraising round.”
