

2015 Corporate Governance & Executive Compensation Survey

Shearman & Sterling has published its 2015 Corporate Governance & Executive Compensation Survey of the 100 largest U.S. public companies.

This year's Survey, 13th in the series, examines some of the most important governance and executive compensation practices facing boards today and identifies best practices and merging trends. Senior partner Creighton Condon writes that the analysis provides insights into how companies approach governance issues and will allow readers to benchmark their companies' corporate governance practices against best practices.

An introduction to the survey is published on the website of the Harvard Law School Forum on Corporate Governance and Financial Regulation. And Shearman & Sterling has published the complete report on its website.
