

Cloud Solutions: The Danger of 'Floating' Contracts

Insight

Today, more and more agreements are comprised of some brief general terms and conditions that reference various online terms provided through URLs, which can change at any time, according to Mike Overly of Foley & Lardner.