

As Hurricane Shuts Down Houston, Law Schools and Firms Respond

News

Members of the legal community – from law students to big law partners – have donated time, energy and resources to helping to house, clothe and feed people displaced by the storm, reports Bloomberg Law.