

Chevron's Pollution Victory Opens Door for Companies to Shirk Foreign Verdicts

News

Corporations seeking to avoid enforcement of foreign judgments they contend are based on corrupt proceedings may have a new weapon now, thanks to a ruling by a federal appeals court over Chevron's long-running Ecuadorian pollution litigation, reports BloombergBusinessWeek.

Survey of International Litigation Procedures: A Reference Guide

Reference Guide

The International Association of Defense Counsel (IADC) Foundation has published its first Survey of International Litigation Procedures: A Reference Guide that offers an overview of the civil justice systems of 49 countries, including key aspects of litigation in each jurisdiction.

Greenberg Traurig Global Gaming Group Co-Chairs to Speak at Gaming Summit in Malta

Global law firm Greenberg Traurig, LLP's Global Gaming Group co-chairs Martha A. Sabol and Mark A. Clayton will participate in this year's International Gaming Summit, which brings together leaders from all global gaming sectors to meet and discuss the top issues and challenges facing gaming today.