

SEC Weighs a Big Gift to Companies: Blocking Investor Lawsuits

News

Bloomberg is reporting that the SEC has privately signaled that it's open to at least considering whether companies should be able to force investors to settle disputes through arbitration.