

Law Firms are Already Inside Some US Wal-Marts

News

Evan Kaine, a personal injury attorney in Atlanta, wanted to offer his firm's services to the 80 percent of all low-income Americans who have unmet civil legal needs, so he opened offices in local Wal-Mart stores, according to a report in the ABA Journal.