

Assessing Your New Compliance Program for Combating Trafficking in Federal Contracts

Article

As contractors begin to make their first certifications to comply with the new federal regulations on human trafficking, they should consider several factors.