

Tesla's Former Top Lawyer Joins Medical Apparel Startup FIGS

"FIGS Inc., a fast-growing medical apparel retailer, has hired Tesla Inc.'s former general counsel, Todd Maron, as its first legal chief," reports Brian Baxter in Bloomberg Law's US Law Week.

"FIGS, which is battling a key competitor in court and reportedly mulling a potential initial public offering this year at a valuation approaching $4 billion, hired Maron last month to lead a growing legal group."

"FIGS was called the 'Warby Parker of scrubs' in a 2018 Wall Street Journal story that cited the $100 million in revenue earned by the company through its aggressive marketing campaigns and direct-to-consumer business model."

Read the article.