

The Best Law Schools in the World

The law school of Harvard University tops the list of best law schools in the world, as ranked by the Quacquarelli Symonds team at Top Universities.

Six of the top 10 law schools are in the United States: Harvard, Yale, Stanford, UC Berkeley, Columbia and New York University.

Above the Law takes a deeper dive into the list:

“Farther down the list, but still within the top 25 law schools in the world, you’ll see Chicago (#11), Georgetown (#17), and UCLA (#23 in the world, yet not in the U.S. News T14). Going deeper into the list, but still within the top 50 law schools in the world, you’ll find Michigan (#27), Penn (#30), Duke (#33), Cornell (#35), and Northwestern (#50).”

Read the article.