

The Biggest General Counsel Moves of 2020: From Alphabet to Zoom

“It’s been a tumultuous year for in-house legal chiefs. The coronavirus pandemic led many companies to cut law department pay or headcount while increasing workload. Several leading general counsel added job titles or got new gigs. Others left the in-house world completely,” writes Caroline Spiezio in Thomson Reuters Westlaw Today.

Read the article for some of the biggest in-house shakeups of 2020.