

The Biglaw Firms that Strike Fear in the Hearts of Opposing Counsel 2022

“If you’re working in-house and dealing with bet-the-company litigation, you want the very best litigators in the world to be on your side. You want a firm with litigators so strong that opponents gasp in fear at the very mention of its name. You want a firm that is known internationally for going for,” reports Staci Zaretsky in their Above The Law.

“But how can you ensure that you’ve picked the right firm? BTI Consulting Group just made it a little easier with the release of its annual ranking of the firms most likely to trigger dread in opposing counsel, as determined by a poll of in-house counsel. After reviewing all responses, BTI named the Fearsome Foursome, the most-feared litigation.”

Read the article.