The Information Governance Ship Is Sailing. What's Your Strategy?

- Symantec will present a seminar in four cities in November on the challenges of information governance.

Today's era of technology evolution and explosive data growth combine to present new and unique challenges for organizations across the globe and for legal departments in particular, Symantec says. Too commonly, key stakeholders such as the CISO, CIO, General Counsel and Chief Compliance Officer operate independently which leaves many organizations spiraling into a cycle of dysfunctional behavior that includes responding to each new crisis on a case by case basis instead of preventing the crisis from occurring in the first place.

Topics discussed will include:
• The intersection between law and technology
• Data breach and data security risks and rewards
• eDiscovery, archiving and record retention planning
• Regulatory compliance

"Please join us for lunch and learn more. Register today for a chance to win a Go Pro HD Hero3 White Edition," said a Symantec representative.
