

The Long Game: Ensuring Security Compliance Success In Mergers And Acquisitions

“Despite a backdrop of Covid-19 and gloomy worldwide economic predictions, the M&A scene has been smashing records across sectors like tech and infrastructure, which saw some of their strongest years yet. In October, KPMG predicted that global M&A activity could hit a record $6 trillion by the end of the year,” reports Yair Kuznitsov in Forbes.

“M&As of venture-backed companies, in particular, have been rapid-fire, set to outpace the previous three years ($91.9 billion). What’s clear is that 2021 will go down as an epic year that saw companies making up for 2020’s lost time and opportunities.”
