

The State of the Global Wind Energy Industry

✖ Navigant Research offers a complimentary on-demand webinar on the state of the global wind energy industry, including a market update, market shares and an installation forecast for 2014-2018.

Key topics are: wind turbines, wind energy power plants, wind and renewable energy policy, wind turbine vendor market shares, wind turbine technology trends, and offshore wind energy.

The webinar also examines the underlying policy and market trends that are driving these forecasts, Navigant says on its website. The latest advances in wind turbine technology trends and the status of the global offshore wind market are also covered, along with market share data for the major wind turbine manufacturers.

Listen to the webinar.