

This Top 20 Biglaw Firm Wants Associates in the Office 3-4 Days Each Week

“Biglaw firms are really looking forward to things getting back to normal and in this case, that means heading back to the office. Yet again, we have a top law firm inviting associates back to the office without word on matching the new Milbank salary scale Earlier this week, Simpson Thacher & Barlett, a firm,” reports Staci Zaretsky in Above The Law.

“That’s in the top 20 of the Am Law 100 No. 14, to be exact, notified associates that they’d be due back in the office on March 14. Associates are expected to spend three to four days each week in the office, on average, starting next month. Sources we’ve heard from didn’t exactly seem thrilled about this plan. The firm, however, is focusing.”

Read the article.