Three Wins in Three Months: How It Happened

The Dallas-based firm Aldous Walker has chalked up three jury trial victories in 80 days, accounting for verdicts of more than $95 million.

In Jackson v. Beamers Private Club, et al., the firm represented the mother of Jerry Brown, a Dallas Cowboys practice-squad football player, who died in an alcohol-related automobile accident in December 2012. The lawsuit was filed under the Texas Dram Shop Act.

Milburn v. American Honda Motor Co., Inc. was an automotive product liability case on behalf of their client Sarah Milburn. The firm brought a product liability claim against Honda, arguing that the design of the seat belt in the third row's middle seat was defective because it did not work as passengers expect and would therefore be used incorrectly.

In I.F. v. Andrew Valderrama and Isaiah Gary, the firm represented a client who at the age of 14 was drugged and then sexually assaulted by two high school football players at a party.

Read about the three cases.