

Top 20 Biglaw Firm Finally Decides It's Time to Show Associates the Money Outside New York

"It's been a few months since Davis Polk blew the lid off associate salaries, and while many firms raised pay in some form or fashion, a great number of them adopted lockstep scales across the country. Some elite firms took their time and are just now getting around to it. For example back in June," reports Staci Zaretsky in Above The Law.

"Greenberg Traurig which brought in $1,730,230,000 gross revenue in 2020, placing it at No. 16 in the most recent Am Law 100 ranking reportedly raised salaries for associates in New York but left other offices hanging. Now, at least one other GT office has joined in the monetary madness that brought associates some joy during the pandemic."
