

Transactional Insurance Partner, Michael Homison, to Join Sidley in New York

Sidley Austin LLP is pleased to announce that Michael Homison will join the firm as a partner in its New York office. Homison will be a member of its global Insurance practice, and will support clients in a wide range of domestic and international insurance and reinsurance transactions. Previously, Homison was a partner with Skadden, Arps, Slate, Meagher & Flom LLP.

Homison is a go-to lawyer in the insurance transactional space having represented clients in a wide range of significant transactions over the last 15 years, involving life, P&C, and health insurance businesses. He has tremendous M&A experience, including reinsurance M&A transactions, as well as insurance regulatory experience.
