

Turner Padget Boosts Insurance Practice in Columbia

Turner Padget is pleased to announce the addition of Abigail “Abby” Bray as an associate in its Insurance Coverage & Bad Faith practice in Columbia. Bray represents insurers, including policyholders and carriers, with guidance on claims management, conducting examinations under oath, prosecuting and defending judgment actions, defending bad faith suits, and representing carriers in both administrative and executive matters. She has previous career experience as an insurance coverage investigator.

Bray previously clerked for the South Carolina House of Representatives Labor, Commerce and Industry Committee. While in law school, she served as an editorial staff member and later a research editor for the ABA Real Property, Trust and Estate Journal. Bray was also a member of Women in Law and the Student Bar Association. She received the Center for Computer-Assisted Legal Instruction (CALI) Award for Topics in Insurance.

Bray earned her undergraduate degree from Valparaiso University and her law degree from the University of South Carolina School of Law.
