

UFC Veteran Mike Perry Inks Multi-Fight Contract to Join BKFC

“Mike Perry has joined the roster at Bare Knuckle Fighting Championship. The veteran welterweight has officially inked a multi-fight deal to join the bare-knuckle boxing promotion after spending the past five years as part of the UFC roster. BKFC officials confirmed the news to MMA Fighting on,” reports Damon Martin in MMA Fighting.

“Terms of Perry’s contract were not disclosed, and his management firm First Round Management did not immediately respond to a request for comment. At the press conference for the Contender Series, UFC President Dana White told reporters Perry’s UFC contract expired and wished him well on his next venture.”
