

Understanding the New World of Cognitive Computing

✖ A DATAVERSITY panel of experts in cognitive computing will discuss in a webinar the technology, current practical applications, and where this technology is going.

The free webinar is scheduled for Tuesday, July 22, at 2 p.m. Eastern time.

The discussion will start with a review of a recent survey produced by DATAVERSITY on how Cognitive Computing is currently understood by your peers. The panel will also review many components of the technology including:

- Cognitive Analytics
- Machine Learning
- Deep Learning
- Reasoning
- And next generation artificial intelligence (AI)

Get more information and register.