

Vince McMahon's WWE Names Third General Counsel in Three Years

"World Wrestling Entertainment Inc., coping with a raft of lawsuits over its business pursuits, has hired its third top lawyer since late 2020 in Elisebeth Collins. Collins, who will take over immediately as WWE's general counsel, most recently was deputy general counsel for sales and services at Caterpillar," reports Brian Baxter in Bloomberg Law.

"She joined the manufacturer in 2018 and previously served as its chief compliance officer and deputy general counsel for enterprise risk. Prior to Caterpillar, Collins spent almost two years at the Boeing Co. as lead counsel for the aviation giant's autonomous systems division. WWE, whose chairman and chief executive officer is professional."
