

Weitz & Luxenberg Law Firm Helps Achieve $1.8 Billion Settlement in Porter Ranch, CA Well Blowout Litigation

“A global settlement of up to $1.8 billion was reached in the Aliso Canyon Well Blowout lawsuit. The settlement was achieved after nearly six years of intense litigation led by a coordinated team of plaintiffs’ attorneys, including Robin Greenwald and Devin Bolton of Weitz & Luxenberg P.C.; Brian J. Panish and,” reports EIN Press Wire in their blog.

“On October 23, 2015, a massive gas leak was discovered at the Standard Sesnon 25 SS-25 well in Aliso Canyon, California. In the days and weeks that followed, people living in the community reported strong odors and suffered physical symptoms, two schools were moved, and nearly 8,000 households were forced to relocate to temporary.”
