

What's Hot in Corporate Renewable Energy Procurement

“From a global pandemic to extreme weather events, supply shortages and a global energy crisis, it’s been a wild couple of years. The uncertainty and instability has bred innovation among corporate energy buyers: Not only are those with experience exploring and using a wider range of contract types, but,” reports Sarah Golden in Green Biz.

“A broader range of companies of all sizes have gotten more comfortable with taking the plunge into renewables procurement. That’s according to “State of the Market,” an annual report from the Clean Energy Buyers Association (CEBA) that identifies top trends from the energy deals inked by U.S.-based corporations. CEBA, an advocacy.”

Read the article.