

Who in Biglaw is Most Excited to Go Back to the Office

“I speak with Stacey Breen, Managing Director at Major Lindsay & Africa, about the twists and turns of her career that led her to her role at MLA, and the motivation behind their recent Return to Office Survey. We discuss the most surprising results of the survey, including generational differences.” reports Kathryn Rubino in Above The Law.

“Additionally, we talk about some of the challenges women faced during COVID and what the industry can do to fix them as we return to the office. The Jabot podcast is an offshoot of the Above the Law brand focused on the challenges women, people of color, and other diverse populations face in the legal industry.”

Read the article.