

Wyatt, Tarrant & Combs Names First Female Chair, Forecasts 'Bullish' 2021

"Just before the coronavirus outbreak pushed pause on our regular daily lives, Wyatt, Tarrant & Combs named its first female executive committee chair in Cynthia 'Cindy' Young," reports Sarah Shadburne in Louisville Business First's Professional Services.

"Young, whose practice revolves around mergers and acquisitions, securities transactions and advising public and private clients on corporate and insurance matters, said that while law has a reputation for being a male-dominated industry, she's seeing women rise to the top every day."
